

IMOGEN DREWS

JUNIOR FRONT END WEB DEVELOPER

PROFILE

I am an aspiring web developer with a special interest in front end development. After getting a degree in film, where I particularly enjoyed editing, I wanted to do something a bit more challenging and felt that front end development would be an ideal fit. My film background taught me how to be resourceful, work effectively in teams and, most importantly, to be patient. I am looking forward to enter this exciting field and to continue learning and expanding my knowledge in web development. Have a look my portfolio here.
