

IMOGEN DREWS

JUNIOR FRONT END WEB DEVELOPER

PROFILE

I am an aspiring web developer with an affinity for front end development. After getting a degree in film and then travelling the world, I decided to do a coding course and found it both interesting and challenging. My film background taught me how to be resourceful and work effectively in teams while travelling gave me the ability to easily adapt to new surroundings. I feel that I am now ready to enter this exciting field and continue learning and expanding my knowledge of web development!
